The Wedding Service

The brothers gather in a circle around the bride who is seated in the middle of the circle. Those carrying flowers and ribbon are scattered throughout the circle. The Alumni Director speaks from the circle so the bride and the audience can hear the proceedings.

Alumni Director: Brothers of Alpha · Sigma · Phi, let us celebrate the joy of the marriage of (name of brother) and (name of brother's wife).

Alumni Director: The original flower of Alpha Sigma Phi was the cardinal rose, symbolizing the deep and abiding friendships fostered within the Mystic Circle.

Brother #1 walks forward, presents a single cardinal rose to the bride, and returns to the circle.

Alumni Director: The flower of Alpha Kappa Pi was the yellow tea rose, symbolic of the fragrance and the purity of life that is lived in honor and fair dealing with our fellow man.

Brother #2 walks forward, presents a single yellow tea rose to the bride, and returns to the circle.

Alumni Director: Alpha Kappa Pi and Alpha Sigma Phi joined to become one Fraternity. We bind the cardinal rose and the yellow tea rose together with the colors of the fraternity – Cardinal and Stone – forming the twin roses of Alpha Sigma Phi. Together the roses are a symbol of endless life and emblematic of the continuing vitality and heritage of our Fraternity.

While this passage is read, Brother #3 walks forward and with the length of cardinal and stone ribbon ties the roses together, and returns to the circle.

Alumni Director: As our history has taught us, a good union results in special and lasting beauty. This is the wish of Alpha · Sigma · Phi for the both of you.

As the Alumni Director finishes speaking, the group sings the "Sweetheart Song."
